Curriculum Vitae

Experience

Flickrsta.com - 2008 - Present

I developed and launched the fashion photography site Flickrsta.com. In just one month I took the site from 0 to over 40,000 unique visitors per month and over 100,000 pageviews. The website is updated every monday, wednesday and friday with 10 new fashion photos that I choose based on composition, lighting, creativity and similar criteria.

Mac.feber.se / Bonnier - January - March 2008

I wrote and published 3-4 articles per day for Macfeber, Sweden's largest website about Apple, iPods and Mac computers. During my time as editor I stood for the majority of the articles on the Bonnier owned site with over half a million pageviews per month.

Freelancing - Design and Film - 2003 - Present

Through the years I have created everything from t-shirts for american rock bands and websites for danish IT-entrepreneurs to helping out behind the camera on the set of the Internet series Extraordinaries and a commercial for the Nordic Panorama film festival.

I have also created a commercial for Malmö Public Library and edited a trailer for John August's film The Nines, starring Ryan Reynolds, as competition entries.

Counting Sheep - April - December 2006

I wrote, directed, produced, shot, edited, color corrected and sound mixed the short film "Counting Sheep" as my exam project at Mediagymnasiet. The film impressed both teachers and friends and received the highest possible grade. "Counting Sheep" premiered at the Pixel film festival in Helsingborg, Sweden.

Lostblog.net - December 2005 - May 2007

Founder and Editor in Chief. Responsible for making the amount of visitors grow to over 99,000 visitors by redesigning the site, writing highly appreciated articles and by creating relationships with both visitors and competing sites. The Lost Blog is now one of the world's most popular websites about the TV show "Lost". During my time as Editor in Chief, the site was mentioned in articles by Google and The Guardian and in several books. I also received interview requests from MSNBC and Time Magazine and cooperated with the production company behind Lost, Touchstone Television.

Education

Film studies - 2007 - 2009

Hundreds of hours of independent studies in directing, screenwriting, editing, drama and film history. I have read books used in the education at the world's best film schools, listened to several hundred interviews and watched hour-long lectures by directors and screenwriters like Ridley Scott, Peter Jackson, Frank Darabont, Michael Bay, John August, Terry Rossio and many more.

Scholarship to Vancouver Film School - Spring 2007

By submitting a detailed synopsis and outline of a movie idea, I took part in a competition held by Vancouver Film School. The winner would get a scholarship covering full tuition. I was chosen as one of 5 finalists among over 200 competitors. I didn't win but the school thought I had a lot of potential and offered me a partial scholarship. Despite their offer, the total cost of tuition and living expenses would have been too high so I was forced to decline the scholarship.

Cambridge Certificate in Advanced English - Spring 2006

Grade A with the highest possible score on every part of the test.

Mediagymnasiet, Malmö - August 2003 - June 2006

I studied Graphic Design and Photography at Mediagymnasiet in Malmö, Sweden and graduated with the highest grade, MVG, in 22 out of 26 subjects. During my time at the school I produced several ad campaigns, posters, illustrations, CD-covers and learned to light and photograph models in a studio. Classmates and teachers were often very impressed by my productions. When I graduated I was awarded a scholarship for "high ambition and creativity".
